Chapter 1: The teaching units about prevention and the worksheets are very useful for teachers at school. On our school we've been working hard to feel a good atmosphere between all: teachers, students and families. One concrete action to improve that was our Lip Dub:

Chapter 2: We like the example of rules on schools, on the idea of early prevention, we have compared these rules with our rules and we found some interesting similitudes.

Chapter 3: We found very interesting the part about how to prepare the conversation with pupils and parents: and as an example of the practical structure of this module of the course, we've used the First conversation worksheet as a tool.

Chapter 4: When the module describes the phases of the conversation and the steps understanding the conflict the example of the educational agreement with parents is very similar to ours, and we also have one for students.

In general the teachers participating on this module said that was very practical and with many useful examples, some of them were very similar to the ones we used and others were interesting to be adapted for us.

We've found a big difference between module 1 and 2, because the first was just general information and the second have many tools for tutors.
